

Tessa - My mother was nine months pregnant, and expecting me any hour. She was advised to avoid traveling. The chance of a birth overseas was high, but the idea of it happening without my father by her side was out of the question.

I just wish we didn't have to cross the Atlantic to say we're not interested.

It did give us a chance to enjoy London over the weekend. And I picked up a new toy for the baby.

We've been made. Let's do this

Myles, I think those masked men are watching us.

I got the woman. Let's go!

Myles! Look out!

Get away from my wife! Right now!

You are not stopping us.

Tessa - A sloppy kidnapping changed my life in an instant, and I wasn't even born.